Abu hunt harder now, says general

By Dana Puzosog

ALTHOUGH FIGHTING WITH SUCCESS, the military will not find it easy to get rid of the remaining forces and members of the group in Abu Sayyaf, according to a top general commander in Manila.

Brig. Gen. Ruben Ebanat, commander of the Solo-based counterterrorism task force, yesterday said that since the killing of Abu Sayyaf chairman Khadaffy Janjalani and other leaders, the bandits had broken up into small groups to avoid further encounters with the military.

"They are always on the move, which makes it more difficult to track them down. Now we are going to deal with them," Ebanat said on postcard at the Camp Aguinaldo military headquarters in Quezon City.

Ebanat said the commander had also withdrawn from encounters with government troops.

"If they can avoid it, they will avoid it," he said. "They go to separate groups and then they regroup. That's their nature. They regroup and plan, but definitely they regrouped groups."

Last Aug. 1, the military launched ground operations against the Abu Sayyaf, which is responsible for several high-profile kidnappings and locally based attacks in recent years.

Ebanat said some of the troops who took part in the neutralization of Janjalani, killed Abu Sayyaf also Abu Janjalani, and other Abu Sayyaf leaders have in Manila from Manila earlier this week to receive plaques of recognition and incentives from President Rodrigo Duterte in Manila.

Mr. Duterte declared that with the top Abu Sayyaf leaders gone, the troops would now go after the "regs."

Asked if the next series of operations would be more difficult, Ebanat said: "Nothing is easy in our line of life."

"Whether it's the final battle or not, it's always difficult. So when you plan, you should always expect the worst thing that will happen. But our soldiers' morale is high, especially now that our soldiers are paying off."

Troops are going after the Abu Sayyaf's remaining identified leaders but by tactics that are not unlike the tactics, commander of the group's "commander group."

Earlier, in his role, a former commander of the Solo-based Abu Sayyaf was killed in a battle following in Solo.

According to Ebanat, soldiers in Solo had been seen in the region since the group's leader, Khadaffy Janjalani, was killed in a battle in 2012. Some attacks in the Solo region, including the 2012 Solo attack, were attributed to the group.

As for the troops, military officials said there were reports that he had slipped back to his base in Solo.

Military verifying report on Dulmatin

DURMATIN CITY—REPORTS THAT 20-DOZEN troops were reported to have been wounded in the clash that led to the death of Abu Sayyaf senior leader Abu Janjalani are still being verified, seeking military officials said yesterday.

Major General Ebanat, spokesperson of the Western Mindanao Command (Palawan), reported yesterday at 11 AM that the 20-DOZEN troops had been injured.

"We have been very careful in taking reports," he said. "The truth is, we don't have exact information of the number of troops injured in the operation."

Ebanat said Lt. Gen. Rogelio Guila, Western Mindanao Command, was coordinating with military units to verify the information reported in the Solo. According to Ebanat, the troops' 10th Special Forces Company.

Brig. Gen. Ebanat Ebanat, commanding general of the 10th Special Forces Group, said he had been informed of the possibility that the troops were injured in the clash. But Ebanat, who had been informed of the possibility that the troops were injured in the clash, said he had been informed of the possibility that the troops were injured in the clash.

THIRD REDUCTION THIS MONTH

Oil prices cut by 50¢ per liter

By Abigail H. Ho

OIL COMPANIES YESTERDAY CUT THE pump prices of gasoline, diesel and kerosene by another 50 centimes a liter as crude oil prices continued to decline in the international market.

Alamco Corp., Philippine Shell Petroleum Corp., Chevron Philippines Inc., Esso Petroleum Corp., Flying J, Shell Philippines Inc., and Standard Oil Company Philippines Inc. all adjusted their fuel prices at 2 p.m. yesterday. Total Philippines Corp. followed suit at 3 p.m. last night.

This was the third price reduction implemented by the oil firms this year.

Data from the Department of Energy showed that the regional benchmark Dubai rate fell to an average of $61.42 a barrel in January from $68.44 a barrel in December.

The prices of unleaded gasoline based on the Motor Fuel Reference (MFR) benchmark for refined petroleum products also dropped to an average of $61.44 a barrel as of Jan. 20, from last month's $68.44 a barrel.

MFR-based diesel went down to a $68.29 a barrel average in the first 20 days of the month after rising to $72.31 a barrel in December 2006.

The further softening of oil prices in the international market is now beginning to permeate across the local market. As the end of the winter season approaches, weaker fueling habits of oil in the international market will ensure stable growth that will support modest oil prices," Energy Secretary Raymond Zulueta said in a statement yesterday.

World oil prices fell below $75 on Friday after a new record fell the previous day.

Oil premium rates about 12 percent above the rate of January despite the oil companies cut supplies.

Oil firms, particularly the members of the Independent Petroleum Producers Association, last night said that fuel prices would go down by P1.50 a liter for this month.

Going into the first month of January last oil firms had inflated their statements, announcing an third fuel price cut, providing for a total of P1.50 a liter for the year.

Yesterday's price adjustment brought prices between unleaded gasoline prices to between P63.25 and P67.50 a liter, down to between P63.25 and P67.50 a liter, and between kerosene prices P63.33 and P67.50 a liter.

Asian free trade zones (AFTZs) have been established in the Asian Community by 2003, but most of the original deadline of 2000.

The 10-member Asian Free Trade Zone (AFTZ) is made up of: Brunei, Indonesia, Malaysia, Singapore, Thailand, Vietnam, Laos, Myanmar, Philippines and Timor-Leste.

Global interest in Asean

The emergence of Asean as a major trading bloc explains the interest shown in the region by world leaders in the ongoing summit meeting of the World Economic Forum, which gathered in this issue in the Swiss Alps more than 2,000 political, economic and business leaders.

The President is taking part in a summit in Asean. This second to the first time today will see the achievements in the region over the past 40 years.

Canadian Prime Minister Jean Chretien and his Asean partners have been particularly well received since the financial meltdown that hit the world in 1997.

The reasons include the growing trade with his markets like China and India, as well as the growing popularity of the Philippine economy, Thailand, Indonesia, Japan and Vietnam.

In the future, the Asian nations could help build solid ally-ship between the rich developed nations for multinationals, with the right investment framework and policies, they will attract global manufacturing and services corporations eager to reduce the risks of supply chain disruptions or backlashes of protectionism that are mounting against China and India, the paper said.

Rating upgrade

The progress of an economic recovery ratings upgrade on the Philippines by global rating agencies has lifted the spirits of Filipino officials here eager to promote the country to the select group of business, political and other leaders gathered here for the WEF.

This is "a clear recognition that the Philippines is on the right track," Prime Secretary Ignacio Bunag said in a statement here.

"This is indeed a happy year not only for the Philippine economy but for every Filipino household that will reap the fruits of new jobs, enterprise, peace and stability and a government delivering the goods in terms of health, education, food and infrastructure," he said.

Stamps made the statement following reports that the government's economic status was upgraded to "developing" by Fitch Ratings, one of the three major rating agencies who set global debt standards, in hopes of a credit upgrade.

Stamps ratings are assessments of the relative likelihood that a borrower government will default on its obligations. Government work credit ratings are used by investors to assess the financial capital markets where strong investment portfolios are created.

The President, who last week awarded the 2007 award for a boom year for the Philippine economy but that she is ready to bring the message to the more than 2,000 world leaders gathered here that the Philippines, progress or credit ratings, checks or history records.

Arroyo said he was offering an integrated technology that will help the Philippine government to enforce its law with greater efficiency and security.

To-do schedule

On Thursday, the President met with the first of a long list of international business executives on his to-do schedule on the sidelines of the WEF meeting.

Manfred A. Jansen, co-executive chair of the Lantana-based Socio Ratings, proposed forming a security advisory system in the Philippines to help the government monitor and coordinate its security and emergency.

Stamps, which has an 80-year history of being a travel adviser to central banks, governments and high-income countries, will host the state of the association involved in setting up the proposed technology and information, under the World Bank's leadership.

Confidence in RP

"By this proposal, we are affirming our confidence in the Philippines as an investment site, and as a partner in a major economic undertaking," Arroyo said in a statement.

Corp. and Union Bank.

Financial markets experts, like the IMF and WTO investment banks, believe a credit upgrade may "help resolve" the Philippine problem.

The Singapore-based IMF said in its latest analysis on the economy of the Philippines' lending capability to secure its budget gap and the price for its strong growth.

The government should hope that the strong positive economic figures, including last year's budget deficit of about P20 billion, which was much lower than the targeted P120 billion, would make a favorable impression on the credit rating agencies who set the global debt standards.

Last year, the outlook on the Philippine credit standing by all three major credit rating agencies—Fitch, Moody's Investor Service and Standard & Poor's—improved from "negative" to "stable."

Below investment grade

But the country's average credit standing with all three major firms remains below investment grade.

A ratings upgrade to near investment grade will lead to lower borrowing costs for the government because of increased market access that the country will need to service obligations and meet its foreign debt obligations.

An improved assessment also raises the country's risk profile. From the perspective of foreign investors, who would then be encouraged to bring in more direct investments and create more jobs in the job opportunities.

Living the Paulinian Creed

It started in St. Paul Institute, a school run by St. Paul College of Manila, and now spread all over St. Paul University Manila.

In its 97 years as an educational institution, SPUM has seen thousands of thousands of young girls enter its portals, to take their place in the outside world, as teachers in schools, as leaders in government, as doctors and nurses in hospitals, as accountants, bankers, and managers, as entrepreneurs in business, as fulfilled owners of small enterprises in the realm of thought and action, as social in religious organizations, and as wives and mothers in homes here and abroad.

Whatever the work, the Paulinian creed, Benedictine faith, foundation is the key. It is the key to the life of faith, bringing the light of God's vision to every life she touches.

From this wide host of Paulinian graduates, you looked further up, to the Paulinian tradition, to the Paulinian spirit, to the Paulinian vision, to the Paulinian mission, to the Paulinian hope, to the Paulinian love, to the Paulinian faith, to the Paulinian life.

On January 28, 1997, St. Paul's University Manila, opened its doors to Paulinians, who have shown the world how the Paulinian spirit can bring the unbroken heart.

THE GLANT electronic billboard at the foot of the Gaship Bridge is the subject of a brewing feud between Public Works and Makati City officials.

Court battle looms over ad

Makati officials may face graft raps—DPWH

By Leticia S. Salazar and Tere Gutierrez

A LEGAL BATTLE IS BREWING OVER AN electronic billboard located in a small park at the Gaship Bridge (formerly Interchange) in Makati City.

The Department of Public Works and Highways (DPWH) is planning to challenge a court injunction that stopped the dismantling of the billboard.

The DPWH may also file a graft charge against Makati City officials who approved the construction of the electronic billboard. Director General of the DPWH's National Building Code Development Office said the billboard should not have been allowed to stand based on a Court of Appeals ruling that public parks are beyond the commerce of man.

On the other hand, Makati Information Chief Jerry Laguarda said previously that the city government was prepared to ban the DPWH from erecting the billboard.

pay and the officials who approved the construction could be charged with violation of the Anti-Graft and Corrupt Practices Act.

At the same time, Public Works Secretary Hermogenes Urdaneta Jr. said they were appealing to influential members inside public parks to voluntarily dismantle their illegal structures "to avoid involvement in their part."

Conspicuously, the DPWH would remove the billboard structure that allowed Adhikari to put up the billboard. As for the probable injunction order from a Makati Regional Trial Court, he said the department's legal division was considering challenging the decision. But the DPWH might not go to court if the court would not allow billboard in the park, he added.

The Adhikari billboard is in a small park at the southbound lane of EDSA near the Park View. The DPWH was supposed to dismantle it Wednesday, but it decided to give Adhikari three days to take down the structure voluntarily. Adhikari got an injunction halting the dismantling before the DPWH deadline.

Conspicuously, the DPWH would remove the billboard structure that allowed Adhikari to put up the billboard.

state did not have an agreement to remove the structure. It said the issue was not about commercialism, but its legality.

He said the appellate court ruled in 2000 that public parks, like public streets, should not be the subject of a lease contract.

"They are violating our partnership," the DPWH executive said. He said if public parks could be used for business, then public streets might also be used for commerce.

Meanwhile, Urdaneta ordered department officials to include public parks in the mapping of illegal and lawful billboards.

He said billboard inside parks could also pose a threat to the public.

The secretary and other people working in public parks, it is important that their safety have no reason within the vicinity to be harmed.

He said DPWH personnel, including officials and other Manila Development Authority personnel would begin checking the structural integrity of billboards and signs in public parks.

Inspired, however, said the main issue was the DPWH's "hidden interest" in the electronic billboard in Makati which takes into account Mateo is now on the 73rd day of his suspension imposed in November by newly installed Mayor Alan Sonsona.

Mateo filed the petition on Wednesday in the Pasay Regional Trial Court.

It was denied off in the rule of Judge Jose Mariano of Branch 117.

In his motion, Mateo asked the court to issue an injunction order, and to reinstate him to his old post.

His latest version of the Local Government Code presiding that "local chief executives may previously suspended for a period not exceeding 90 days any malfunctionary or employee under his authority pending investigation of the charges against such official or employee involved in a serious offense or crime."

Paralegal, Jose Aring said, ordered Mateo's suspension on Dec. 15 following complaints from traffic witnesses and regular staff of the PTMO alleging the official failed to release their vehicles and income.

Charges and circumstances were that in various counts by the staff of Mateo, an ally of dismissed Pasay Mayor Sonsona

"Suspending that I committed a violation, he should have suspended me for 90 days," Mateo said after his suspension was imposed.

"Clearly, they intended to hold me out," he said.

Economy seen growing 5.7% on high invest flows

By Michael V. Sison

AN INCREASE IN INVESTMENT INCOMES will help spur domestic demand and boost the Philippines' economic growth to 5.7 percent this year, according to the Institute of International Finance Inc. (IIF).

"Government has been languishing for two years, but is poised to turn up with greater credit availability and the prospect for improving infrastructure and so capacity constraints to attract more business," said IIF, an organization of foreign financial institutions.

IIF's 5.7 percent economic growth forecast for the Philippines for this year is higher than the 5.4 percent estimate it made last year.

The 2007 forecast, however, was less optimistic than the government's official estimate, that of between 6.1 to 7 percent.

Investors said the declining interest rates, fueled by the all-time low in benchmark treasury bills rates, provided a welcoming environment for businesses to bank loans and expand their holdings.

IIF said that the projected rise in investment was expected to result in the growth of domestic demand. From the estimated 4.9 percent growth in domestic demand last year, said the world economy to 5.1 percent in 2007.

Private consumption is seen to grow this year by 5.6 percent, while government consumption is projected to rise by 5.8 percent.

Increase in domestic demand would mean that companies like the expected slowdown in exports, IIF said. Exports, a main growth driver for 2006, is seen to deteriorate a bit this year because of the projected deceleration in the economies of major export markets, including the United States and Japan.

The expected increase in government consumption is anticipated in the scheduled passage of the proposed P1.16 trillion national budget for 2007, which will partly compensate for the gap of a projected budget last year due to credit spending and increased growth.

Last year, with the failure of Congress to pass the proposed P1.03 trillion budget, the government was forced to operate using a some difference with the music over time from before. I'm not sure if I can pinpoint when exactly it is, but definitely it has changed."

The people who managed to attend the two shows got a peek of what it is more with the new song "We South Again." The result is a burning craving for Maad theory Wolfgang fans.

"I think it's our last name," Maad said. "It's not heavy and that but it's like where we would have gone if we didn't go to make an album right after that."

With live has selling albums to their 15-year career, it is only the current music, that a step back. It's going forward.

"I'd like to believe that we are still a heavy rock band," Maad said.

But the guys are not about to make it what is popular or what is selling.

"What I can really be proud of is that I created a new language and there are now others that I will be proud of," Maad said. "They don't see just something out, it's something that we were all created about."

And it's true. Their work speaks for themselves.

Not sharp enough?

Maad will always have it, now that name. Unconquered by the status "only good," the most popular vocalist was prompted to say to his "band" just that his future was not long or sharp enough.

"I was talking about the music before it's built," he said. "Staying in front of people is very easy to deal with. It is what's going on behind the scenes that is hard to deal with."

"Just trying to show that holy god, that dream, that's completely changed in front of you and every time you try to go it, everybody just says it better now."

Maad, it didn't stop his brain making what he does and then doing better.

Because the weather wasn't just a part of the moment, getting there and Maad was still worried as what the meaning would be.

Maad and work are still positive, they want to go it straight. The music is there to give them the challenge it's taking up his career in Advertising in the States. Maad is among the few fans, and then has been doing well to Hong Kong.

"We are just doing it," Maad said. "It's not a question of whether we are going to come up with something new again, but rather a question of when."

Everything has been on the move for the band that helped to their heavy rock music to the country. Eventually something will come out, hopefully soon.

Drops of Life

REPLENISH WITH EVERY DROP

Proper hydration means getting the right amount of liquids into our bodies. It is an important aspect of our health, as we simply cannot function properly without constantly replenishing our fluids. In normal conditions, thirst is our guide to know when it's time to hydrate. However, what our bodies can't tell us is what beverage to drink.

REFRESH YOUR BODY WITH EVERY DROP OF COKE

Recent health studies have shown that all beverages hydrate the body, so it is more a matter of quantity than a specific drink. Choose beverages that you enjoy. And what can be more enjoyable than an ice-cold Coca-Cola? Always keep a beverage within your reach. Keep one at your desk, your car or your bag. Fill a quick thirst. Our bodies absorb all the water it can from whatever we take in, which means that it naturally makes every drop of Coke a valuable contribution to proper hydration.

MAKE EVERY DROP COUNT

Make sure that everything you eat and drink boosts your health because when it comes to hydration, your body makes every drop count. Grab a Coke and raise a toast to a hydrated body. We at The Coca-Cola Company live to provide you with every product that will satisfy your different and changing hydration needs. We understand that you make every drop of your efforts count, and our role is to keep you enabled to meet your desires. We make every drop count for you.

HYDRATION IS NOT ALWAYS SPELLED H-2-O

Ensuring the body is hydrated is key to good health. People are that right to realize glasses of water is the result on the table. That's a lot of drinking. And sometimes, we do have cups. The good news is, according to health researchers, water is not the only source of hydration. Yes, most beverages like Coca-Cola can hydrate you. Help you pick up your hydration of fluids by opening a bottle of Coke. It's made up of water with all the nice stuff you want that refreshes body body and soul. That's right, hydration can be spelled as C-O-L-A. Get every drop back. Drink up.
